REPORT FISH VERY SCARCE

Bankers and Shackers Report Very Dry Look to the Eastward.

The arrivals here since last Friday are few, including five salt and two fresh fares.

Sch. Harvard of the dory handling fleet is home, having been absent since early summer, hailing for 150,000 pounds of salt cod. Sch. Fannie A. Smith arrived yesterday from a second salt trawl banking trip of the season with a small fare of about 80,000 pounds. Like other of the fleet who have arrived home, the dory handlers and bankers have experienced a poor season, on account of the weather and great scarcity of fish.

Sch. Ralph Russell from salt drifting has 35,000 pounds of salt cod, and sch. Vanessa from shacking 40,000 pounds of salt cod.

Sch. Mystery arrived yesterday from a halibut trip to the eastward with 80,000 pounds of halibut, 30,000 pounds of fresh fish and 5000 pounds of salt cod. Another arrival yesterday was sch. Cynthia, Capt. Jeff Thomas, with a shack fare of 80,000 pounds.

Sch. Ella G. King arrived at noon today from an eastern deck handling trip.

The torchers had 200 barrels of herring yesterday, and about 175 barrels this morning.

Portland Fish News.

But few fish were landed Thursday. The sch. Topsail Girl brought in about 12,000 pounds of groundfish, while the Gloucester schs. Tecumseh and Massasoit each landed about 200 mackerel. The draggers were all out Thursday. The mackerel now being caught are mostly of large size, some weighing four pounds.

The fishing sch. Watauga and the sloop Jennie Maud were hauled up on mud at the head of Commercial wharf Thursday for repairs.

Mackerel Catch at Digby.

Digby has its first catch of mackerel for many years. The catch is valued at $5000. The fishermen attribute the catch to the fact that the waters are polluted with sawdust and other mill refuse as in former years. One hundred and nine thousand weight of hake were taken during the month, valued at $7000. Eleven thousand five hundred pounds of dulse was shipped to the American markets.

French Trawlers Find Fish Scarce.

The French trawlers are reporting a scarcity of fish on the banks. Last week the big trawler Rorqual came into North Sydney bringing news of an utter absence of the fish, and in consequence sailed for her home port in Boulogne, France.

Halibut Sale.

The fare of sch. Mystery sold to the American Halibut Company at 15 cents per pound for white, 10 cents for gray and 6 cents for chicken.

Pensacola Craft Loses Mainmast.

The disabled smack Priscilla, of the E. E. Saunders Fish and Ice Company, reached Pensacola last Monday night in tow of the tug Britannia. The smack Priscilla, with her mainmast gone, has been making for Pensacola for the past two weeks, but she could not make Pensacola and was compelled to put into Port Eads on Saturday.

The Priscilla was reported by the captain of the Clara M. Littlefield as having encountered heavy weather on the Campechy banks and had her mainmast carried away.

Want More Money for Fish.

An alleged "strike" is reported from Indian Harbor, Labrador, that the fishermen refused to sell their fish off the coast at the current price, $3.50 with the raise. The trouble was that the fishermen had been led to believe that the purchasers were prepared to pay more if the fish was held back. It was proven, however, that under present conditions, in the foreign markets no higher price could be offered, and an amicable settlement followed.

Oct. 14.

Oldest Whale Hunter.

The brig Viola, Capt. E. J. Reed, cleared at the custom house at New Bedford Saturday for a cruise for the season after sperm whales. Capt. Reed, who goes in command of the Viola, is the oldest whaling master in active service. He is 70 years old and has been at sea since he was a boy.

The Alcona at North Sydney.

The refrigerator steamer Alcona, Capt. Dominic Arsenault of this port, owned by the Gorton-Pew Fisheries Company and bound to the Bay of Islands, N. F., arrived at North Sydney, C. B., last week. Capt. Arsenault intended to continue his voyage on the first favorable opportunity afforded.

Fishing Fleet Movements.

Sch. Catherine C. Burke arrived at Canso Thursday last and cleared.

Sch. Ella G. King was at Liverpool Thursday last.

Sch. Monarch was at Liverpool Thursday last, on a mackerel seining trip.

Oct. 14.

Bring Cured Fish.

Schs. Chester A., Nora D. Sawyer and Grace Stevens are here from South West Harbor, Me., with cargoes of cured fish, consigned to Fred Bradley.

CAPT. WEBBER IS IN AGAIN.

Sch. Marguerite Haskins, Capt. Ralph Webber is back again at Newport this morning with another fare of fresh medium mackerel, hailing for 45 barrels.

Capt Webber after disposing of his fare yesterday, immediately headed for Noman's where he secured his nice trip the day before and landed on fish.

The Haskins took her first fare Sunday about six miles off Noman's, landing 165 barrels yesterday. Mackerel were schooling in large bodies and appeared to be hanging in about one locality. Capt. Webber reports that the prospects are excellent and that schs. Ralph L. Hall and Nellie Dixon also secured a haul and salted their fares.

A despatch to the Times from its correspondent at Newport this forenoon announces the arrival of sch. Wood and Mack with nine barrels, and sch. Freedom with 14 barrels.

Mackerel Receipts and Imports.

The total catch of salt mackerel to date is 7864 barrels against 6508 barrels in 1911.

Imports of salt mackerel received at Boston to date amounts to 10,567 barrels, while for the same period of 1911, 8712 barrels were received.

The catch of salt mackerel by the fleet to date is 30,964 barrels against 41,996 barrels last year.

Imports of fresh mackerel at Boston to date amount to 9025 barrels against 4491 barrels in 1911.

PORTLAND SAYS PLENTY OF BAIT

Fishermen along the New England coast will feel no bait shortage this year, according to the Portland Press.

There is plenty of it in the freezers everywhere. Not only have herring been brought in in large quantities, but there are large quantities of blue backs and squid on hand to be placed on the hooks. Usually about this time, the men at the freezers begin to wonder if there will be enough bait to last through the winter. For the past few years, the bait fish have been slow in showing up and Portland has generally been forced to supply not only its own fleet but a good part of the vessels in Boston and Gloucester. Only bad weather last winter prevented the available supply from being exhausted altogether. The vessels could not get out to the fishing grounds so not as much bait was used as would have been the case had the weather been better.

All during the present summer, herring, bluebacks and squid have regularly been brought in. They have been dumped into the freezers in Portland and frozen as fast as possible so that practically the capacity of the various places has been filled.

During the first few days of the coming season, the fishermen will use green bait as far as possible, but when there is none to be caught, the supply in the freezers will be drawn on and used until spring. All the ports where bait is stored are well supplied and all the fishermen will be fitted out without extra trouble.

Digby, N. S., Fish Notes.

The August monthly bulletin of Nova Scotia fishery statistics referring to Digby says that haddock have been more abundant than for several seasons, and that no dogfish have as yet appeared. The following catches were reported for Digby county: 2500 lbs. salmon, $500; 830,400 lbs. cod, $12,456; 750,100 lbs. haddock, $12,238; 4,020,000 lbs. hake and cusk, $32,158; 573,400 lbs. pollock, $4,587; 831,600 lbs. herring, $6,288; 77,600 lbs. mackerel, $4,368; 4000 lbs. halibut, $280; $3,620 bbls. clams, $5075; 2400 lbs. crabs, cockles, shrimps, etc., $120.

Maritime Fish Corporation purchased last week 15,870 lbs. salt hake; shipped 2752 boxes finnan haddies, 125 drums dry fish.

Arrivals at Capt. Joseph E. Snow's: Sch. Loren B. Snow, 77,385 lbs. mixed fish; shipped 877 boxes finnan haddies, 145 boxes fillets, 7250 lbs. fresh fish.

The steamers of the Boston and Yarmouth Steamship Company have been fitted with telephones from the wireless operators' quarters to the pilot house.

Nova Scotia Fish Co.'s arrivals: Sch. Loren B. Snow, 10,000 lbs. haddock, 11,600 lbs. hake, 1209 lbs. cod, 1200 lbs. cusk; from boatmen, 1350 lbs. haddock; shipped 728 boxes finnan haddies, 16 bbls. fresh fish.

The lightship Lurcher, which has been in port for the past month undergoing her annual overhauling and renovating, is now about ready for sea again. It is expected she will resume her station the first of this week.

Sch. Loren B. Snow, Capt. Ansel Snow, arrived Tuesday with 77,385 lbs. mixed fish and sailed again for the fishing grounds Wednesday. His high dory, manned by James Darcy and Clinton Gilliland shared $215.52 during the last month.

Big Bluefish Catch.

Never within the recollection of veteran fishermen were so many bluefish seen at one time off Long Island coast as are disporting in the ocean off Patchogue. Experts with years of reputation estimate that there are at present 10,000 tons of bluefish off Long Cove, Walter's Island, and almost every male inhabitant of the town has equipped himself with squid and line and gone fishing for the blues.

Captain Beth Gordon, Captain John Smith, Percy Worth and Charles Sappery Friday caught 250 with lines, going out from the shore only 20 feet. Each fish caught weighed from 10 to 17 pounds. They had several large seines 1500 feet out in the ocean, and so many of the big fish entangled themselves in the nets that the seines were carried from their moorings out to sea by the struggling fish. Pitchforks, they said, could have been used to advantage in place of fish hooks.

Oct. 15.

Nova Scotia Fish Figures.

Digby County was high line in the value of fish caught for month of August, $78,000, with Yarmouth second, $59,000, and Shelburne third, $55,459. Halifax, $50,000, Lunenburg, $49,166, Guysboro, $44,694, Cape Breton, $29,392, Richmond, $15,943, Queens, $28,192, Amnapolis, $23,591, Kings, $6,154, Cumberland, $3,025, Colchester, $1,449, Victoria, $3,619, Antigonish, $2,358, and Hants low boat with $375. The total value of the month's catch was $438,658.

For the whole of Canada the value of August fisheries was $2,436,501. The same month last year $2,453,552. Salmon was King, the month's catch being valued at $1,521,276.

In Nova Scotia for August cod was King having a value of $156,770, herring next, $84,718. The value of the mackerel catch for the month was $25,880.

For Shelburne County the August catch of cod was $22,813, herring $16,793.

A Fortune If He Can Do It.

To transport live fish 14,000 miles to the American market is the dream of Thomas Keefer, who sailed recently from New York for Siam, via Hamburg, Germany. Mr. Keefer lives in Philadelphia, Pa., and he believes fish can be brought from Siam and landed in this country, without difficulty in large fresh water tanks, notwithstanding the long distance which they have to be carried. Mr. Keefer believes that in a few years all edible fish will be sold alive and that his experiment will bring about means by which scientists will enable dealers to sell fish alive at the door of every household.

Alcona at Bay of Islands.

The refrigerator steamer Alcona has arrived at the Bay of Islands, N. F., information received here stating that she reached her destination Sunday.

Oct. 15.

T Wharf's Week's Fish Landings.

A total of 2,851,650 pounds of ground-fish from 83 arrivals was landed at Boston last week, against 1,743,600 pounds from 81 arrivals for the same period of 1911.

Oct. 16.

Ready For Launching.

The new sch. Gertrude DeCosta, is about ready to take the water at Essex. The new boat is to be fitted with a crude-oil engine, a new type, never tried aboard a fishing boat. The engine will be a 70-horse power. The new boat is a knockabout, 114 feet long, with 22.6 beam and 12 feet depth. She will register 105 tons gross and Capt. John Shea will command her. His old command, the Stranger, is now commanded by Capt. Stanley, formerly of the Rose Standish.

Iceland Herring Fishery.

The British vice-consul at Reykjavik reports that the herring fisheries of Iceland, which are principally carried on off the north coast, during the past season have resulted in an output of 130,000 barrels of herring, salted for export, as against 140,000 barrels last year. This year 100,000 barrels have been supplied to the local guano factories as compared with 60,000 barrels last year.

Has Attractive Exhibit.

At the Bronx Food Fair and Industrial Exposition, one of the largest food fairs ever held in New York the exhibit of Gorton-Pew Fisheries Company of this city is one of the largest and most attractive. Large crowds are attracted to the Gorton-Pew booth by the novelty of the exhibit which is in charge of Percy Hall.

New Cold Storage Company.

The Rockland Cold Storage & Warehouse Company, of Rockland, Me., has been incorporated; capital, $100,000. Incorporators: S. S. Nickerson and F. S. Nickerson, Rockland Me. and J. M. Frere Wilmington, Del.

Oct. 16.

MAINE HERRING CATCH SMALL.

But few herring are now being caught in this vicinity, says the Portland Argus, the catch being unusually small for the season of the year, and in marked contrast to that of the two preceding years, in one of which something like 30,000 barrels of sardine herring were taken by local fishermen off the Cape and shipped to the factories at Eastport and Lubec, some of the crews making good money. Most of the herring found in this vicinity at present are of medium size and are sold to the fishing schooners for bait, but the smaller kind seem to have disappeared and the fishermen are at a loss to account for it. The fishermen at the eastward are having better luck, although the catch around Eastport and Lubec is far below the normal, but of sufficient size to supply the demand, many of the factories at those places not being running on account of demoralized condition of the business. A large amount of last year's pack having been left over some of the smaller packers cut prices in order to clear their stock, which resulted in a general lowering of prices; the quotations on some goods being the lowest ever known. The South Portland factory has been open for only about one week this season, the few fish found around Yarmouth and up the bay not being enough to warrant its operation. More than six weeks yet remain before the season closes, however, and possibly with cooler weather, the fish may show up again all along the coast.

HERRING HAULS AT BONNE BAY.

Herring have struck in fairly plentiful at Bonne Bay, N. F.

Already several good catches have been made and it is expected that during this week the fish will be more abundant. During the past two weeks fine weather has been noted on the coast and a great quantity of fish is being prepared for the foreign market.

PENSACOLA NEWS.

Red Snapper Reported Scarce—More New Vessels Building.

If the catches reported by smacks arriving here during the week from the snapper fishing grounds are to be the means of judging the quantity of red snapper in the gulf, says the Pensacola News, the fish is rather scarce at this time. During the past two days seven smacks have arrived and discharged cargoes at the Saunders and Warren wharves.

By the policy of the Warren Fish Company to build in Pensacola a majority of the new vessels augmenting their fleet of fishing smacks, Pensacola benefits in no small way. No sooner than one vessel is launched from the ship-building ways at the foot of Baylen street, another vessel is started.

Carpenters in the employ of the Warren Fish Company have already laid the keel, stem to stern of the new hull. Only several weeks ago the new smack, William Hayes was launched from the ways.

The work on this last fishing vessel will be rushed to completion.

James Callaway, a seaman, was given a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner Marsh this morning on the charge of looting the stranded smack Isabelle and was discharged for lack of evidence. It was alleged that on September 14th Callaway took a number of articles from the smack Isabelle, stranded on a shoal at the entrance of Perdido Bay, but evidence sufficient to support the charge was not adduced and the defendant was discharged.

May Have Fishing Exhibit.

At a special meeting of the St. John's Board of Trade Council the matter of holding a fishery exhibition next year was discussed and favorably received. It is likely that such will take place when the various makes of the home product will be shown, the methods adopted for the cure and cull of fish in foreign countries.

BRINGS FOURTH SHACKING TRIP

Sch. A. Piatt Andrew Home When Salt Cod Fares Are Much Wanted.

Sch. A. Piatt Andrew, Capt. Wallace Bruce, is here this morning from her fourth shacking trip since launching and hails for 75,000 pounds of salt cod and 25,000 pounds of fresh cod. Capt. Bruce has been absent since August 26 and secured his fine fare in little better than six weeks time.

When the craft comes to figure up her season's work, Capt. Bruce will probably be found pretty well to the top among the high liners of the fleet.

Down from Boston is sch. Mildred Robinson with 35,000 pounds of salt cod, while sch. Rena A. Percy, Capt. John Stream, is over from Portland after disposing of her halibut fare yesterday.

It blew quite a gale outside during the night and the little fleet of torchers and pollockers anchored or tied up inside.

Today's Arrivals and Receipts.

The arrivals and receipts in detail are:

Sch. Mildred Robinson, via Boston, 35,000 lbs. salt cod.

Sch. A. Piatt Andrew, shacking, 75,000 lbs. salt cod 25,000 lbs. fresh cod.

Sch. Rena A. Percy via Portland.

Sch. Flavia, shore.

Sch. Good Luck, shore.

Sch. Priscilla, shore.

Vessels Sailed.

Sch. Helen G. Wells, pollocking.

Sch. Thalia, pollocking.

Sch. Mary F. Sears, haddocking.

Sch. Jennie B. Hodgdon, Newfoundland salt herring trip.
